Collaborative Edition

An original tea experience created in dialogue with a place, programme or creative brief.

A Collaborative Edition

Pink Table develops site-specific tea experiences with galleries, cultural organisations, hospitality spaces, brands and creative partners.

Each collaboration begins with the partner's context: an exhibition, collection, place, seasonal programme or particular question and develops into an original sequence of teas, pairings, objects and ways of gathering.

Starting points:

* A place or architectural setting
* An exhibition or collection
* A cultural programme
* A seasonal theme
* A brand material, product or story
* A hospitality or public-engagement brief

A Collaborative Edition

How we work:

Context and conversation → research → concept → tea and pairing development → spatial and serving sequence → testing → production

Possible outcomes

* Participatory tasting
* Tea performance
* Exhibition-linked experience
* Temporary tea menu
* Installation or spatial intervention
* Publication or printed matter
* Bespoke tea gift or object

Format, timeline, team and budget are developed according to the scope of the collaboration.

A Contemplative Tea Ritual

SAC Contemporary Art Space

Tea and art have long been intertwined, with tea ritual valued as a contemplative practice. For “Individual Campus,” an exhibition curated by SAC Contemporary Art Space at the historic Comenduirea Garnizoanei in Timișoara, we explored the meeting of classical and contemporary practices, and of Eastern and Western perspectives.

Rather than approaching the exhibition solely through looking and movement, we introduced tea as a moment of pause. Guests were invited to sit around an artwork, experience the aromas, tastes and textures of tea, and observe the space at their own pace. The ritual offered a more intimate way of engaging with the exhibition, encouraging presence and a deeper connection to the artworks and surroundings.

At Grotto Gallery, a Chinese tea ceremony unfolded alongside a guqin performance, transforming the space into an intimate theatrical setting. The installation featured teaware by Sandra Berghianu, clothing from Les Vacances d’Irina, and furniture by Grotto Gallery and Intro Design.

Through sound, objects and the gestures of tea preparation, the project explored tea ritual as contemporary artistic expression, inviting guests to pause, observe and connect.
